WAUSAU URGES STRICT PRECAUTIONS

City Will Take Stringent Means to Rid Itself of Scarlet Fever
Contagion.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Wausau, Wis., Feb. 21.—Mayor John E. Lamont stated today that he would order the public library closed, and the fumigation of all schools, theatres and churches. In view of the prevalence of scarlet fever, and that he was ready to close the schools if necessary. The quarantine laws will be rigidly enforced, no one being admitted to a house containing the disease, but the doctor and a trained nurse, Dr. C. A. Harper of the state board of health, in his address before the mass meeting called to discuss the situation, urged stringent measures, as he said, Marathon county had an untimely reputation from this disease. It being more fatal here than in any county in the state outside of Milwaukee and said that the city officers had been negligent or the disease could not have continued to spread for more than two years.

The following resolutions were adopted by an unanimous vote of the 1,200 persons attending the mass meeting:

"We, Citizens of Wausau, in mass meeting assembled, desire to express and record our realization of the danger, both to our children and the good name of this city, in the continuance of the present epidemic of scarlet fever, which has already existed for nearly two years. Being conscious of the fact that many precautions and active measures for the suppression of this disease in common use among other cities have not been exercised in Wausau, we do hereby resolve:

"That we do feel it to be our bounden duty and urge upon all citizens a like sense of duty, to endure such restrictions as may be found necessary by the proper authorities to apply, and to ourselves exercise such care in case of need, that this dread disease may, if possible, be entirely suppressed;

"And we heartily commend the action of a board of health in establishing quarantine for any form of this disease, and that of the physicians in their efforts to use such personal precautions as may render them less liable to be carriers of any contagion."

KING EDWARD READY FOR FIGHT

and ready for the fight, which will be for the lightweight championship of the world, Battling Nelson and Ad Wolgast, the sturdy little German, await the call to the open arena tomorrow afternoon. The agreement calls for forty-five rounds, the fight to be fought in 133 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning. Accommodations provide for 15,000 spectators and to judge from the present demand for tickets every seat about the ring will be filled.

For many weeks sporting men throughout the country have been discussing this match, which is the first in which Champion Nelson has engaged in many months. To some of the best judges of pugilism it looks like a one-sided affair, with the little holding Dane having a pronounced advantage, especially in science and ring experience, but Wolgast, regardless of this prevalent belief, will enter the ring absolutely confident not only of winning, but also of knocking the champion out by dint of terrific slug-fug tactics.

Of Battling Nelson's career and phenomenal fighting abilities every one interested in ring affairs has knowledge. Of Wolgast much less is known, for he is, comparatively speaking, a novice in the fighting game and only recently came into sufficient prominence to warrant a match for the championship title.

The little German-American fighter was born twenty-two years ago in Cadillac, Mich. His fights, with one or two exceptions, have been fought in the West. He began his career in 1906 by knocking out a number of lightweights of small reputation. The handy manner in which he disposed of his opponents soon attracted attention to the little German and it was not long before he was able to get on more important matches.

In 1907 Wolgast took part in twenty-one fights, winning seven by knock-out, six on decisions, one on a foul and the others being draws. The next year he engaged in seventeen battles, scoring five knockouts, earning seven decisions and holding his own in the others. He outpointed Harry Baker in ten rounds at Milwaukee and made a creditable showing with Owen Moran in a six-round go. Then he outpointed Frankie Nell in ten rounds and knocked out Danny Webster in seven. He held his own with Abe Attell in a ten-round affair.

Last year Wolgast had fourteen encounters without suffering a defeat, and defeated Danny Webster and Harry Baker on points and knocked out Tommy Langdon in one round, also on a decision. Wolgast's best showing, however, was in his ten-round contest with Battling Nelson at Los Angeles. The decision went with the Nelson battle, but it was the general opinion of the spectators that Wolgast clearly outclassed the lightweight champion in point of ring science. It was the fight which convinced Wolgast that he could defeat the champion in a long battle. Tomorrow's contest will give him the opportunity, as it is scheduled for forty-five rounds. Edith Smith, the well-known Oakland referee, will be the third man in the ring.

TO DISSOLVE TRUST OF ANTHRACITE CO'S.

Government Suit Comes Up For Argument After Three Years Spent in Examining Witnesses.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 21.—After nearly three years spent in the examination of witnesses for both sides the suit instituted by the Government in 1907 to break up the alleged anthracite coal trust came up for argument in the United States Circuit Court today. The principal defendants in the suit are the Central Railroad of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, Reading Company, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad Company, Erie Railroad Company, Pennsylvania Coal Company, Temple Iron Company and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, and New York Susquehanna and Western Coal Company.

It is the contention of the Government that the defendants are parties to a general combination and conspiracy which stifles competition and obstructs trade and commerce among the States in anthracite coal. It asks the court to restrain and enjoin the alleged monopoly, and to further enjoin the defendants from carrying out the contract with the so-called independent companies by which the latter turn over their product to the larger companies for sixty-five per cent of the tidewater selling price.

SUPREME COURT'S FINDINGS AWAITED

Epoch Making Decisions on "Tobacco Cases," Standard Oil Appeal and Payne Tariff Bill Expected.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 21.—Following a recess of several weeks, the Supreme Court of the United States reconvened today. During the next few weeks an unusual amount of epoch making litigation is expected to come before the court for argument and decision. Of most interest and importance, of course, is the decision in the "tobacco trust" cases, involving the interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The appeal in the Standard Oil case, which involves practically the same questions as the "tobacco trust" cases, is set down for argument about the middle of next month. Several cases involving the validity of the corporation tax provisions of the Payne tariff law are also on the docket for an early hearing.

A decision eagerly awaited by railroad men and their employees is that relating to the "hours of service" law for railroad employees, passed by Congress three years ago. The railroads have attacked the law as being applicable to employees engaged in commerce within the State as well as in interstate commerce. It is claimed the law is open to the same objection which wiped the employers' liability law of 1906 off the statutes.

Still another decision of interest will be that in the suit brought by the Government to gain possession of property amounting to nearly $500,000, in the hands of Oberlin N. Carter, formerly a captain in the engineer corps of the army, who was convicted of complicity in the Savannah harbor fraud.

The validity of a large number of state laws are questioned in cases which the court has heard argued, but in which it has not announced its decision. Many other similar cases are to be argued during the remainder of the term. Argument will be heard at an early date in the case of the Southwestern Oil Company against the state of Texas, involving the Kennedy gross receipts law. The case of the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Northern Pacific Railway, involving the establishment of through routes and joint rates on passenger business between Seattle and the East by way of Portland, will be argued. Still another important case on the docket is that involving whether the rights to desert land entries may be transferred before reclamation has been made.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 21.—Topeka is today the scene for leading Democrats from all parts of the State, who have gathered here for the double purpose of attending today's meeting of the State central committee and the Washington birthday banquet tomorrow. The conference of the leaders is regarded as important in view of the preparations already on foot for the coming campaign. Harmony is the watchword of the Kansas Democrats just at present. ## TWO UNIVERSALIST PASTORS ON CARPET

Rev. Paul J. Smith and Rev. Dr. G. E.
Cunningham Must Answer For Utterances at Kansas City.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 21.—A lively interest is manifested in Universalist church circles in the inquiry to be conducted here this week into the charges brought against the Rev. Paul Jordan Smith, pastor of the First Universalist church of this city, and the Rev. Dr. G. E. Cunningham, secretary of the Missouri Universalist churches. The charges against the two ministers grew out of their alleged liberal ideas as expressed in addresses which they delivered at the Universalist convention in Detroit last fall, in which they advocated a union of the Universalist and Unitarian churches and also, it is said, declared themselves in opposition to revival services as a means of increasing the membership of the church.

The victim, Dominica Pelletier, was brother-in-law of the accused man. Owing to family troubles Mrs. Pelletier had left her home and was living with her brothers. ## CITY HAS MADE A REMARKABLE RECORD

Dr. Buckmaster States There Has Not Been A Case Of Contagious Disease In City For Two Months.

"There is not a single case of contagious disease in the city at the present time," said Health Officer Dr. S. H. Buckmaster today. "In fact, there has not been one for the past two months, which, in view of the fact that several Wisconsin cities are fighting epidemics of contagious disease, is cause for congratulation.

"Just why this city has escaped thus far, is hard to determine. One of the reasons, in addition to sheer good fortune, is that every case has been reported and special care has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease by rigid quarantine and by disinfecting the homes of the patients. In spite of protests by those who object to quarantine, attending physicians have been careful to make reports to the health officers and in this way prevent the disease from becoming epidemic.

"Contagious diseases such as scarlet fever, small pox and diphtheria are more likely to spread in winter because of the fact that people remain indoors a greater portion of the time, breathe impure air and in other ways prepare to give all kinds of germs a warm welcome. If Janesville can keep up the good work for another two months, it will have established a record that will be a cause for congratulation to everyone connected with the preservation of the city's health.

With nearly fifty-eight cases of scarlet fever in Beloit and other Wisconsin cities spotted plentifully with warning signs, the above statement by the city health officer can not but have a cheering effect on every citizen. At Wausau, the conditions are so bad that the city authorities are about to close and fumigate all public buildings, including schools, churches, halls, and the library. If Janesville, through good luck and the conscientious work of the health officer and physicians, has escaped up to the present time, there seems to be no reason why the good work can not be kept up. Although fortune has favored the city thus far, precautions will not be allowed to become lax and every care will be taken to isolate any case that may develop.

LIVES A DUAL LIFE; CONFESSED TO WIFE

Mrs. Irene Lane Sues Her Husband for Divorce in Chicago Court

Mrs. Irene Lane, a daughter of Col. and Mrs. Britton of this city, who has many friends in Janesville, has brought a suit for divorce from her husband, Morris T. Lane, a dealer in paintings and antiques, in a Chicago court. In the testimony which was given on Saturday it was disclosed that Lane had for thirteen years maintained two households and reared two families.

Mrs. Lane lives in Evanston with her two children, while Mr. Lane and a woman referred to as Eva Morton had for a long period of time occupied a flat at Forty-seventh street and Prairie avenue. Miss Morton was known in the neighborhood as Mrs. E. E. Lane. She is the mother of three children. Lane was not in court when the case was called. He is said to be in Cleveland, while the woman in the case is at Milwaukee.

"I discovered the affair only a short time ago," said Mrs. Lane on the stand. "Then I found out it had been going on for twelve or thirteen years."

Mrs. Lane produced letters written by her husband, in which the latter had offered to pay her $200 a week and even several pictures now hanging in the Auditorium, the Grand Pacific and other downtown hotels.

Assistant County Attorney Charles G. Jones testified that Lane had introduced him to another woman as his wife.

"I met them when they were living at the Stratford hotel," said the witness, "and Mr. Lane told me a short time ago that he had been living a double life. When he left for Cleveland he asked me to let him know the outcome of the divorce case."

George R. Lamb of Pittsburgh, Lane's son-in-law, testified that he had seen his father-in-law recently and that the latter had confessed his relations with Eva Morton.

Bert Sherman and David Griffin Both Testified That He Sold Obscene Pictures.

At the conclusion of the testimony for the prosecution, in the action of the state vs. Tom Varg, the defendant this afternoon waived examination and was held for trial under $500 bonds. The money was deposited in a bank by a relative and his release effected pending the filing of information against him on Monday, Feb. 28, at 10 a. m. Bert Sherman swore on the witness stand that Varg sold him three obscene pictures, which the state had introduced as evidence, and David Griffin testified that he saw Sherman buy the pictures and that Varg had a collection of fifteen or more for sale at the time. Attorney C. W. Reeder represented the defendant and District Attorney Fisher is conducting the prosecution.

Louis Stenmyer of St. Louis, a harness-maker who fell on a slippery walk and broke a shoulder last Wednesday and for whom the local members of the craft took up a collection to pay expenses at the Inter-urban hotel, pleaded guilty to drunkenness in municipal court this morning and was committed to the county jail for five days.

Fred Do Grant of Broadhead pleaded not guilty but Officer John Brown swore on the witness stand that he heaped foul and abusive language on the officers and was in a beastly state of intoxication when brought to the station. That ended it. Mr. Do Grant couldn't pay $1 and costs and went to the county jail for 30 days. John Flynn was unable to pay $1 and went to jail for 7 days. Edward Olson of Stoughton lacked $3 and went to Hotel Scholten for 5 days. Alex. Strum, the aged hobo who was driven out of town on Saturday, was unable to pay $1 and went behind the bars for 7 days.

Eating Oranges on Trains.

If you take the children on the train and wish to feed them oranges, which tend to quench the thirst, prepare the fruit at home and wrap the sections in waxed paper. It is tedious to pare them on the train, and one is liable to soil the clothes in doing so.

What a Grand Thing Memory Is...

In ancient times the Egyptians erected great pyramids to the memories of their departed kings. Today those same pyramids stand as wonders to the civilized world, preserving still the memories of the ancient kings.

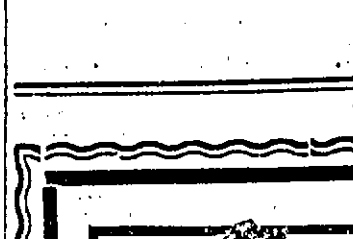

In modern times, great works of art, in granite and other stone, and works more simple in design, are erected to preserve the memory of those gone beyond—and these marks of affection will remain for ages.

In the spring of the year the placing of Monuments is most frequent and it is advisable to place orders now for work of this nature.

THE INQUIRY NEARING AN END

PROSECUTION IN BALLINGER CASE HAS PRACTICALLY FINISHED.

RINCHOT YET TO BE HEARD

Probably Will Make Statement When Committee Reassemble Next Friday—Henry M. Hoyt Corroborates Secretary's Accuser's Testimony.

Washington, Feb. 21.—When the committee inquiring into the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy adjourned to meet Friday the prosecution had been practically closed. Gifford Pinchot will probably make a statement before the case is ended and counsel for Mr. Glavin will offer some additional corroborative evidence.

Hoyt Takes Stand.

Henry M. Hoyt, attorney general for Porto Rico, was called to the stand to corroborate that portion of Glavin's testimony in which the latter told of seeking the advice of Mr. Hoyt in Washington in May, 1909, after Mr. Assistant Secretary of the Interior Pierce had rendered an opinion which Glavin thought would permit the Cunningham claims in Alaska to go to patent. Mr. Hoyt told of how deeply worried Glavin seemed to be at this time, and said that before going to Attorney General Wickham he and Glavin had discussed the advisability of taking the matter up directly with the president.

Mr. Hoyt also testified to the good character of Glavin. He said he had told the attorney general that Glavin was an honorable, upright, young man.

Tells of Wilson Cases.

The only other phase of the case to which Mr. Hoyt directed his testimony had to do with the Wilson coal-land cases in which he acted as special attorney for the United States. Glavin had testified that he had heard that the name of Mr. Ballinger, as attorney for some of the Wilson claimants, had been left out of the court record by stipulation of counsel. Mr. Hoyt said it was at his personal suggestion, and without the knowledge of Mr. Ballinger that the stipulation had been entered into. Mr. Ballinger's name did appear fifteen or twenty times in the testimony given.

PRISONERS WEEP AND FAINT.

Eight Italian Counterfeiters Are Given Prison Terms.

New York, Feb. 21.—Lupo, "the wolf," chief of the Black Hand in America; Giuseppe Morello, chief of Sicilian counterfeiters in this country, and six of their confederates were found guilty of making spurious money.

They were sentenced to hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for terms varying from 15 years and $1,000 fine to 30 years and $1,000 fine. The accumulated sentences and fines aggregate 160 years and $7,000.

Lupo, who is under sentence of 30 years for murder in Italy, wept while his counsel pleaded for mercy and had to be supported when led from the room after sentence. Calzavola, collapsed in the arms of two marshals. Morello fainted and went into convulsions.

PREMIER OF EGYPT IS SHOT.

Cairo, Feb. 21.—Prime Minister Boutros Pasha while leaving the ministry of foreign affairs was shot and seriously wounded by a Nationalist party fanatic named Wardani. Boutros Pasha was taken to a hospital. His assailant was arrested.

The assailant, who is a student, fired five shots, three of the bullets lodging in the premier's body. The bullet in the premier's body. The bullet in the premier's body. The bullet in the premier's body.

INDIANAPOLIS COAL MAN DEAD.

Is Found Dying in Snow Within Block of His Home.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 21.—Mystery surrounds the murder of John H. Emerson, manager of the Balco-Kraus Coal and Lumber Company, who was shot and almost instantly killed a block from his residence, 412 North-west street.

The theory offered by the police is that Emerson was killed by a hold-up man whom he resisted. Emerson was 65 years old, a widower, and in good financial circumstances.

Hero of Fort Sumter Dead.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 21.—James Gibbons, the last of the little garrison that surrounded Maj. Robert Anderson on that historic April day in 1861 when Fort Sumter was fired upon, died in this city. He was credited with slaying the first gun fired by the union forces.

JUDGE GROSSCUP SAYS TRUSTS ARE NECESSITY

United States Will Put Forth Efforts to Regulate Rather Than Extinguish Them.

New York, Feb. 21.—Just before Judge Peter S. Grosscup, of Chicago, left here on board the steamship Crona for a three months vacation up the Nile, he declared that the United States would soon become sane on the question of "trusts" and would put forth efforts to regulate rather than exterminate them.

Speaking of conditions in the United States, Judge Grosscup, who reversed the decision fining the Standard Oil Company $25,000,000, said he believed economic conditions here were improving constantly and that there would soon be a readjustment of corporate conditions.

Trusts are a necessity, because of the progress of the world," he continued. "Modern conditions demand that capital, like an army, be under one single command, but that army should be prevented from becoming of the freebooting order. That army should serve not itself, like the old Greek armies which plundered and pillaged, but should serve the people from whom they come. The people allow corporations to organize and the corporations should be responsible to the people."

ACCUSES COMMISSIONER NEILL.

Former Aid Alleges $300,000 Squandered on 'Useless Investigation.'

Washington, Feb. 21.—Charges against Dr. C. P. Neill, the United States commissioner of labor, involving the alleged squandering of more than $300,000 on a useless investigation of the child labor evil, are being investigated by Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor.

According to the allegations, Dr. Neill spent the money appropriated by congress, and also dipped into other appropriations for the funds to carry on the investigation.

The charges against Dr. Neill were lodged with Secretary Nagel by Thomas H. Dawley, Jr., a former newspaper man who was appointed one of the child labor investigators at the beginning of the inquiry three years ago. Commissioner Neill flatly denies the charge.

AVOID "ROOSEVELT INCIDENT."

Catholic Dignitaries, Mindful of Fairbanks, Confer on Visit.

Rome, Feb. 21.—Mgr. Kennedy had a long interview with Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, on the Fairbanks incident and also on the prospect arising in connection with ex-President Roosevelt's visit. Col. Roosevelt also has promised to make an address before the American Methodist body here, and, although the Vatican authorities are intensely anxious to honor him, the pope must adhere to the precedent he has set in the Fairbanks case.

If Col. Roosevelt's audience with the pope is arranged immediately upon his arrival in Rome he will be free to address the Methodist society afterward.

HUGHES TO PRY GRAFT LID OFF.

Probe of Adirondack Land Scandals Likely to Be Sensational.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21.—If the "lid" is actually blown off of the state capitol as a result of the Conger-Alida bribery scandal some strange tales of a similar character are likely to find their way to the public. That there will be other disclosures concerning transactions of which the people of the state have not even the remotest information, is more than probable because of the intervention of Gov. Hughes to demand the probing of the Adirondack land scandals which have long been a source of profit to certain favored individuals and of much gossip among politicians and legislators.

NEW VENEZUELA PLOT DISCOVERED.

Many Venezuelans Arrested as Anti-Government Conspirators.

Caracas, Venezuela, Feb. 21.—The discovery of a new plot against the government and in the interest of former President Castro has caused a sensation. Many arrests of prominent persons have been made. Disquieting rumors regarding the political intentions of Gen. Jose Manuel Hernandez, leader of the Nationalist party and formerly minister at Washington, who is now in Paris, have alarmed his partisans here.

Falling Wall Kills Four.

Fredericktown, Mo., Feb. 21.—Four men were instantly killed and four others were seriously injured when the brick wall of the burning Keyes building at the southeast corner of the public square fell upon them. The fire, the origin of which is a mystery, was discovered in the back part of the Keyes building, which with the Anthony-Schulte building, adjoining, was destroyed.

Murder Jury Disagrees.

Jonlin, Mo., Feb. 21.—After striving to reach a verdict for 28 hours in vain, the jury which tried William Costley of Webb City for the murder last October of Ben Newman, his boarder, was discharged by Circuit Judge H. E. Bright. The jurors stood 11 for conviction for manslaughter to one for conviction for murder in the second degree.

Happiness.

Happiness is not that which you are doing, but the motive at the back of the doing.—Edna Wheeler Wilcox.

MORE SOLDIERS ARE ORDERED TO CAIRO

Situation Aggravated When Negroes Jeer Funeral of Man Slain in Jail Attack.

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 21.—On the urgent appeal of Sheriff Neill, conveyed to Gov. Deneen by long distance telephone late last night, additional troops are being rushed to Cairo. The reinforcement consists of Company 11 of Shelbyville. Further rioting is feared. Evidence was given that the slightest cause would precipitate an actual race war, with the combatants almost equally divided. The deputies are searching for a negro who is thought to have been the accomplice of John Pratt, the purse-snatcher who tried to get out of the jail Thursday night, when Alexander Halliday was killed and several others injured. If he is caught it is feared he will be lynched.

The funeral of Alexander Halliday, who was killed by the negro deputies, was attended by nearly 1,000 people. As the funeral train passed through the north part of the city, a negro section, a large body of negroes hurled insults at the funeral party, a number of whom wanted to stop the train and avenge the outrage but cooler heads prevailed and trouble was averted.

The soldiers have the situation well in hand and while they have dispersed several small crowds no demonstration of any account took place. The popular feeling is strong against Sheriff Neill for using negro deputies and for allowing Halliday's body to lay in the snow for several hours. It was stated by Adl. Gen. Dickson, that Sheriff Neill was not ordered by the governor to let Halliday's body lie on the ground until the body arrived which has been the sheriff's claim.

As a precautionary measure Sheriff Neill has asked Gov. Deneen for another company of militia and Company 11 of Shelbyville has been ordered to report for duty here. It is possible that one of the companies here may be relieved from duty on its arrival.

NEW JERSEY SCARES PACKERS.

Beef Trust Lawyers Are Anxious to See Indictments Found.

New York, Feb. 21.—Lawyers representing the "beef trust" made haste to visit the office of the public prosecutor in Jersey City and ask for copies of the indictments, reported to have been brought against the directors of the National Packing Company.

The little phrase as "individuals" had disturbed them, it was said, and they apparently did not relish the idea of having their clients, the directors, arrested on a charge of conspiracy to raise prices of food. That is why they wished to see the indictments and examine them for defects. The prosecution says, moreover, that he will not be satisfied with fines, but will insist on imprisonment. The maximum term under the law is three years.

SOCIAL WORKERS MEET IN MAY.

Charities and Correction Conference Will Be Held at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Feb. 21.—Announcement of the preliminary program of the National Conference of Charities and Correction, which will be held in this city May 19 to 26, has just been made. This gives promise of being one of the greatest meetings of social workers ever held. A large number of speakers of national reputation have promised to deliver addresses, these including Miss Julia Lathrop, Raymond Robins and Dr. Fawell of Chicago, Bernard Flexner of Louisville, Dr. A. W. Forrie and Mrs. Florence Kelsey of New York, Miss Kate Barnard of Oklahoma and Prof. J. R. Commons of Madison, Wis.

MARQUIS IS WOUNDED IN DUEL.

Spanish Noble Run Through Arm in Paris Encounter.

Paris, Feb. 21.—Marquis Campobello, the Spanish military attaché at London, fought a vicious sword duel here with Al. Payer, a well-known Paris merchant. The duel lasted for an hour and a half, when Payer finally ran the marquis through the arm. The adversaries were still unconquered on leaving the field.

To Standardize Pavements.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—The first national convention of city officials and engineers for the purpose of standardizing pavement specifications opened in the La Salle hotel today and will continue in session through the week. About 40 cities are represented and it is believed great good will result from the discussions and agreements of the delegates.

JEWS LOSE RACIAL IDENTITY.

Will Be Designated in New Census by Country of Birth.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Prof. Willard B. Hottel, supervisor of the national census in Chicago, outlined for the first time the definite plans decided upon by congress for taking the 1910 census in an address before the City club, and explained that hereafter the Jew, Slav, Hun and many other designations of race and nationality will be unknown in census statistics of this country.

By this decision the 3,000,000 Jews in the United States are suddenly robbed of their particular identity and will be down on the books as American, German, French, Russian, Rumanian, etc., whatever the country of their birth might have been.

Kansas Instructor Drops Dead.

THEATRE

MAY ROBSON.

Here is what the New York Herald of November 13th had to say about May Robson, who comes to the Myers theatre, Wednesday, Feb. 25.

"Standing like an oasis in a desert of dreary and weary plays, 'The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary' with May Robson in the title role will be held by many as the best comedy seen here this year. This statement, while it may seem extravagant, is entertained of the play. Suffice to say that the story deals with an old maid aunt, not the cracked sort, but a sweet, motherly woman whom country life has made sharp. A visit to the city and a taste of high life with her nephew, whom she has disowned for his escapades, shows her what life really is and rejuvenates her; makes her young in spirit as she really is in years, and brings about a happy ending to all of their lives. Cold type gives but a faint idea of the delightful dialogue, epigrammatic monologues, laughable scenes and situations which the three acts afford.

MAY ROBSON IN "THE REJUVENATION OF AUNT MARY."

The audience, when not in a titter of suppressed laughter is hooted in its applause. There is blended a touch of pathos, just enough to tighten the tapers and allow a fuller and freer relaxation at the next bit of humor.

There was more genuine, sincere and spontaneous laughter in the lines of that show than any half dozen comedies that have preceded it or will succeed it. And it was not all wisecracks, either. There was character work by the audience which greeted the opening performance. To take this play to miss one of those rare and delightful treats which come but seldom in a theatrical season.

Conscious of all problems, suggest simplicity. It is refreshing from the rise to the fall of the curtain. There is truly a laugh in every line and a smile in every action.

The play is from the pen of that talented magazine writer, Anne Warner, and that woman has given to the stage a creation which has proven a success for the blues, and affords a most delightful evening.

Space forbids an extended review who gave the play a dash of New York town that pleased excellently. The character work of Nina Reville as Lucinda, was good, as was that of the other character part. The rest of the cast was in full keeping with the leads. One of the brightest lines of the play was the last: "The Lord intended all of us to be happy, but some of us don't know how to go about it."

CANNON AND RULES.
From the accounts published in the anti Cannon newspapers a would picture Mr. Cannon as a man with horn and tail, cloven hoofs and a pitchfork who sought to force his arbitrary rulings on the members of the lower house of congress whether they would or not. How different is the real man and the real rules that the House itself adopts and places him in the seat of speaker to enforce.

A few days ago, Speaker Cannon was asked for a ruling with regard to the withdrawal of a bill for which its sponsor asked postponed consideration. On previous occasions, when Mr. Cannon had ruled on questions of this character, his decisions had been pronounced arbitrary and unjust
by a large section of the House.
Now, he declared, the House must interpret its own rule on the point at issue. This move took his opponents by surprise. He had practically shifted the responsibility from his shoulders to theirs. Here, at last, was an opportunity for them to show the country how much more fairly, how much more satisfactorily, the business of the House might be conducted. But now that the opportunity had come to them they were scarcely prepared to welcome it, for they found themselves hopelessly divided; and finally many of those who had been foremost in criticizing the speaker voted with his supporters in favor of an interpretation of the rule that coincided with his previous decisions.

On Monday, Mr. Cannon took the floor to speak for the river and harbor bill. In the course of his remarks he touched upon the question of House organization and discipline, and addressing himself to his party associates, and more especially to those Republicans in insurrection, he said:
"If we lose sight of our own imperious position for the time being,
there will come in our places better and wiser men who will not lose sight of the necessity to provide for an orderly procedure under which a majority can work its will; where responsibility rests there must be power with the majority to move on, being responsible." Turning to the Democratic side, he expressed the hope that when, "in the fulness of years," the American people placed them in the majority, they would leave the rules and the order of procedure, the product of the experience of 120 years, unimpaired.

One does not need to be a Can-nonite to see that at bottom the speaker's position is sound. Whether he is acceptable or unacceptable personally to insurgents, or politically to Democrats, both in their thoughtful moments must recognize the fact that there must always be rules, and strict ones, for the government of the House by the majority, and that if the House is to be properly governed,
there must be a strict disciplinarian
in the chair to enforce them.

TO STOP LYNCHINGS.
Newspaper and editorial writers
all over this big broad country of ours deplore mobs and mob violence.
Especially is the lynch law deplored and condemned. Just at present this line of lawless destruction of human beings the moral uplifting of the individual presence of soldiers at Cairo, Ill.

nois, to prevent, if possible, lynchings. An exchange says:
"Mob violence in this country becomes neither more or less deplorable or reprehensible by reason of the locality in which it manifests itself.
It is menacing to our welfare as a people, and it should be abhorrent, whether it is exhibited in Illinois or in Idaho, in Massachusetts or in Mississippi, North, South, East or West, there should be no disposition and no attempt to justify or to palliate
it. Whether the victims be of one race or another, and whatever the alleged immediate and heinous cause,
a lynching or an attempt at lynching must be more deplorable to those who encourage, tolerate or participate in it than corrective or curative of the offenses at which it is aimed." The Cairo, Ill., outbreak is illustrative of the case with which a community or a people may be led into deeds of lawlessness the moment they ignore or depart from the restraining conventions of civilized society.

The happiness and prosperity and future of our country are dependent upon the self-control of its individual citizens. Our very existence as a nation is based upon our ability to govern ourselves. Great things are expected and demanded of us, because of the exceptional and beneficent conditions under which we are universally believed to be upbuilding a democracy. We have set up high standards for ourselves and for others, and we have led others to build up high standards and ideals for us. We must strive to live up to them, to be equal to their requirements, and we can do those things only by attaining that perfect individuality which finds its highest expression in absolute obedience to the nation's laws.

True lovers of liberty must now and always utter their protest against such violations of the rights of men, such contempt of the constituted authorities, and such unbridled license as adversely affect to hatred and passion.
All men are brothers, though some may greatly err, and the legal tribunals which men have themselves set up must be looked to and depended upon to restrain crime and check violence.
The people of the United States are shocked, and properly, too, by news of massacres abroad, and yet, here at our very doors, these outbreaks of fury and passion are allowed to occur
year after year, despite the protests of the great body of our 90,000,000 people! Surely some means can be devised to abolish forever these remarkable inheritances of a barbaric age.
What shall this means be, unless it be the moral uplifting of the individual?

More of the "beautiful" causes many who in November hoped the snow would stay with us all winter, begin to wonder if spring is overcoming and whether the little green grass ever did grow on the lawns and cause us to wish that it did not grow
so fast.

It is safe to say that no innocent bystander is hurt in a night riot if they are safely at home and in bed where they should be. The Illinois sheriff who protected the lives of his prisoners did his duty and should be commended.

So the call is going out around the state for Davidson to run again for Governor and save the state from the reformers who do not even try to reform themselves until the law forces them to. Well, Jim has run before.

Teddy is nearing civilization again
and his wife and daughter are hungry to meet him at the spot where "Chinco" Gordon lost his life that Egypt might be a civilized country.

Dr. Cook has turned up in Chile.
That guess about his having gone in search of the South Pole was not so far off after all. Still he does not report that he has found it as yet.

Ben Johnson has been given a contract for twenty years as President of the American League. It is safe to say that he will not jump this contract.

February is living up to the reputation that January gave it. Still it is to be hoped that March will not think it necessary to follow suit.

This state wide call for Mr. Cook to run for the office of United States Senator is amusing when one stops to consider the source of the call.

The insurgents in congress have a falling for passing laws which unfortunately the supreme court of the state calls unconstitutional.

It is possible now to telegraph a letter if you have the price and do not object to too many persons reading it.

Anyone who has lost a good sized cold wave can have the same without even stopping to prove property.

"An Army Mule," a new serial story
by Charles Miller Thompson, begins in the February 10th issue of The Youth's Companion of Boston. The title of it is suggested by the blind and reckless obstinacy of the old soldier who is its principal character.
His mulishness involves him and those about him in a succession of the most mystifying and astounding complications. Sample copies of The Companion, including the issue containing the first installment of this extraordinary story, will be sent upon request to anyone who mentions this paper.

Heart to Heart
Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

A MODERN DAVID.
Should some one offer you $100,000
in money and a trip around the world
if you would merely keep still, what would you do?
A great temptation?
Well, Richard Parr, a young man of New York, was made that offer by the sugar trust and refused it.

In 1894 Parr was working for the government as a sugar sampler on a salary of $1,000 a year, on which he was supporting a mother and a sister.
He discovered that the government was being cheated by the sugar trust by a system of false weights. He went to Washington, where he disclosed the steal and was made a special agent to secure evidence.

Largely as a result of Parr's work
the government now knows that the trust has stolen some $20,000,000. Already some $2,000,000 of the stolen money has been returned to the treasury.

The head of the trust did not long ago because of fear of prosecution, it is said. Some of the directors have resigned in hope of escape, and indet-ments are in prospect for a number of officials "higher up."

Learning that Parr was after them,
the heads of the trust tried to buy him off.

"They made the offer of the $100,000 and the trip around the world, which he indignantly spurned, reported the offer to Roosevelt and was told to continue his efforts."

Later Parr was offered $25,000 in cash to give up a little steel spring taken from the trust scales. He had the official who offered the bribe arrested, but could not prove the attempted bribery.

Then his life was threatened.
Parr merely laughed.
The frightened officers of the trust employed a burglar who broke open Parr's desk and secured some of the evidence.

Almost single handed this young man has brought the greedy, thieving trust to its knees. He is a very David to that Goliath.

Turning his back upon luxury as well as upon threats, he has maintained the integrity of his trust.
And this quiet, persistent young official disciplines any credit for heroism or special thanks. Like every other hero worth while, he insists he did only his duty.

You remember James Russell Lowell's appeal, "God give us men?"
Well, God is giving us men—men who dare to do and to be, who can neither be swayed nor lagged nor enjoyed from the right way of life—
men like Richard Parr.

We're making laws, with lots of noise, to keep from harm our precious boys. The curfew bell booms out at eight, and warns the lads to pull their freight for home and
bed and bating sleep,
while wary cops their vigils keep.
The cheap toy pistol's down and out,
we won't have things like that about;
and boys would hear the pistol's loud
moan, and watch their parents shout. The cigarette at last is banned; the children of this happy land can buy sometimes makes the dangers sore. Each year new laws and statutes bring, to shield them from corrupting things. It's strange that we should overlook the screening blood-and-thunder book, the wild and woolly, red-hot yarn, that Johnnie reads behind the barn. The tales of bandits who have slain a cord of men.

FOR THE SEWER "EXTRAS"

Appeal to Circuit Court in 1905 From Council's Disallowance Decided by Judge Grimm Today.

By the terms of a decision which Judge Grimm rendered in circuit court this morning, R. T. Hanrahan and others will recover $2,079.72 on their appeal from the common council's disallowance, some five years ago, of all but $121 claims for sewer construction "extras" aggregating about $14,000. The contract was originally let to the firm of Hanrahan & Lindquist and in a preliminary stipulation a question involving the right of "Hanrahan, et al" to maintain any action against the city was carried to the supreme court. The city's attitude regarding this technicality was not upheld by that tribunal.

More Modest Demands.
With reference to the appeal from the council's disallowance of the $14,000, Judge Grimm says:

"At that time the plaintiffs appear to have abandoned a large part of the original claim, since the complaint prayed for the allowance of items approximating only about $8,000. Upon the trial there was an entire failure of proof as to some further items and plaintiffs now claim judgment according to their brief, for only $5,187.74, and this includes a part of the items allowed by the council."

A Remarkable Shrinkage.
"The remarkable shrinkage of nearly $9,000 in the plaintiffs' claim is nearly as much of the evidence offered in support of the remainder, and indicates, to my mind, an attempt to get from the city a much larger sum of money than the plaintiffs themselves believe they are entitled to."

But One Valid "Extra."

"I have reviewed the evidence with unusual care, determined to settle this matter in a manner both lawful and just, and have come to the conclusion that there is but one further item, other than those allowed by the council, in reference to which the plaintiffs have proved their right to recover, namely: the extra depth in excavations as to all but the fifth street extension. But even as to this item their claim, to say the least, is extravagant. The cost of the extra depth of excavations in District No. 5 was $2,079.72, while under the testimony of the witnesses, Mr. Clausen—a competent engineer and fair witness—it was shown to be but $1,130.62. He gives it as his opinion that the average cost per linear foot of each foot in depth of additional excavation was twenty-five per cent of the contract price per linear foot of the original trench; and I am satisfied from the whole evidence that this is a correct estimate of the cost, and have computed the amount the plaintiffs are entitled to according to it. In the computation I have taken as a basis the figures of depths of trenches as given by the testimony of Clausen and the table prepared by Mr. Clausen showing the actual depths and differences."

Estimate Basis of Suit.
It was the misleading character of this estimate on which the claims and appeal to the circuit court were founded. It appears that when the sewer men arrived on the scene to bid on the city's contracts no table of average cuts based on the blue-print profiles had been prepared. An assistant in the engineer's office worked all one night making such a table and, it is claimed, sold it to the bidders. City Engineer Korch declared that this was done without any express authority but the court holds that the city was responsible for it, just the same. His words on this point are:

"Used With Knowledge."

"Where the actual depth was less than the estimated depth I have made allowance to the city at the same rate. I find as a result of my computation that there is due the plaintiffs for extra excavation the sum of $2,079.72. The defendant contends that the estimate of cuts was not a part of the plans and specifications, that the plans and specifications were correct and showed the actual depths to which the sewer was to be dug; and this contention can hardly be said to be contravened. But the proof conclusively shows that the estimate about was prepared in the office of the city engineer by the assistant city engineer, was there found among the plans and specifications in connection with the sewer bids, with the knowledge of the engineer; that it is the 'universal' practice to prepare such estimates of cuts for the use of the bidders and to base their bids upon, and that they had a right to rely upon their being substantially correct; and that the plaintiffs' engineer did so rely and made his bid accordingly; and that the estimate of cuts was materially inaccurate and misleading. There was no intention to practice a fraud upon the bidders, but the fact that the estimate of cuts fixed the depths of the trenches at materially less than they had eventually to be dug operated to secure lower bids than would otherwise be the case. In other words the city would be paying for an eight foot trench where it actually got a nine foot trench. The city neither intends to defraud nor to be defrauded; it should be, and no doubt is, willing to pay for what it actually received; but, on the other hand, it should not be required to pay for more."

Acquiesced in Assignment.

"Defendant's counsel contends that the plaintiffs cannot maintain this action for the reason that the city never consented to the assignment under the provisions of the contract. A sufficient answer is, that the city acquiesced in the assignment and is estopped from questioning it in this action. A further sufficient answer is, that the contract itself contemplated an assignment without consent of the city by reserving the right in such case 'IN ITS DISCRETION' to elect the contractor and declare the same null and void, or re-let the said work, etc."

The court takes up the various smaller claims in detail and gives the reasons for disallowing them.

Attorney Fred C. Burpee has represented the city in this litigation and Attorney M. O. Mount has been counsel for the plaintiffs.

MORE POISON IS FOUND IN FAMOUS SWOPE CASE

Christman and Margaret Are Given Larger Doses Than Is Usually Administered.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 21.—According to a dispatch from Chicago strychnine, in far greater quantities than is usually administered in medicinal doses has been found in the stomach and liver of Christman Swope and in the stomach contents ejected by Miss Margaret Swope.

This information was given out by an assistant in the Rush Medical college laboratory. It was there that Dr. Walter R. Hatcher and Dr. Ludwig Heitman worked on the Swope mystery. In the absence of these men, who are here testifying before a grand jury that is investigating the case, the assistant revealed the story of the findings of the scientists in the two cases upon which no official report has yet been made.

None of the examinations has yet been finished. The scientists have progressed far enough, however, so that they are convinced that neither Thomas H. nor Christman Swope would have died when they did had it not been for strychnine.

Gratitude.

Whenever I give a moment of the noble personality a coin these days I also bestow a good, hard kick to prevent his being too grateful. Too much gratitude is appalling.—New York Press.

The Truth About Milk

What Scientists Say

Milk is not a beverage. It is one of the most nourishing foods known to modern science. It is a natural animal food containing all the ingredients needed for nourishment, and with very little waste. Its elements build up the body, keep it in repair and supply fuel for warmth and energy.

Milk Will Reduce Your Cost of Living

You can reduce your table expenses and offer a pleasing variety of diet that will furnish the best form of nourishment for the whole family, by substituting rich, wholesome milk for the more expensive foods. It is the most easily digested and practically the only complete natural food known. The laboring man or the brain worker can find no more nourishing food more palatable to the taste. It should be used in place of non-nourishing, stimulants such as tea and coffee for it is a satisfactory drink as well as a valuable food.

Variation In Milk

Eminent scientists say that there is probably no article of food which is so liable to variation in food value as milk. This variation is due to the breed of cows from which the milk comes. Prof. Vorhees (U. S. Dept. of Agriculture) says: "Cows are classified into Milk and Butter breeds; that is, those who give a large quantity of poorer quality milk and those which give a smaller quantity of a higher quality." Our milk comes from "Butter Breeds." We know every herd of cows from which our milk comes. It always averages more than 4% butter fat and cream.

You Pay Too Much

One expert states that one man may pay nearly twice as much as his neighbor for the same amount of food value in milk when both pay the same price per quart. If milk that contains 4% (cream and butter fat) is worth 6c a quart, milk containing 3 1/3% is worth only 5 1/4c a quart; 3% milk is worth only 4 1/2c a quart. Dealers are strictly within the law when they sell 3 per cent milk. Such milk is worth only 4 1/2c a quart. If you pay more you pay too much.

There is just one safeguard against overcharge on the milk you use. There is just one way to get the richest, creamiest, purest milk and that is to use our milk now and always. IT MEANS TABLE ECONOMY NOT ONLY TO USE MORE MILK BUT TO USE OUR MILK THAT IS THE CHEAPEST BECAUSE THE BEST. AND FURTHERMORE, WE PASTEURIZE FOR PURITY.

Please phone, write, or stop our wagon as it passes your door and take a positive step towards economy and better nourishment. Order our milk for a month's trial and you will see that it is sweeter, richer, purer.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Some Advice Against the Use of Harsh Purgatives and Physics

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver. This condition poisons the system with waste matter and causes accumulation of gases which must be removed through the bowels before health can be restored.

Salts, ordinary pills and cathartics may be truly likened to dynamite. Through their harsh, irritating action they force a passage through the bowels, causing pain and damage to the delicate intestinal structure which weakens the whole system, and at best only produces temporary relief. The repeated use of such treatments causes chronic irritation of the stomach and bowels, dries and hardens their tissues, deadens their nerves, stiffens their muscles and generally brings about an injurious habit which sometimes has almost, if not fatal results.

We have a pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of its great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case where it fails to produce entire satisfaction. This remedy is called Rexall Orderlies. We urge you to try them at our entire risk.

Rexall Orderlies are taken like candy, they act quietly and have a soothing, strengthening, healing, regulating influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, grip, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhea or other annoying effects, and they may be taken at any time without inconvenience.

Rexall Orderlies overcome the drug habit and safely remedy constipation and associated ailments, whether acute or chronic, except in surgical cases. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Price 25 tablets 25 cents, and 12 tablets 10 cents. Remember you can obtain Rexall Orderlies in Janesville only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

SUPPOSE you and a comrade were caught and hemmed in by the tide on a rock-bound shore, and your comrade should make you stand on his shoulder, and should help you get your feet in a niche in the cliffs that would eventually bring you to safety.

Would you be apt to look down upon him as a failure because he chose to save your life instead of his own?

What an absolutely absurd question, I know everyone is thinking.

But listen.

But listen.

Is a man or woman who chooses to make another life instead of his own less fine than the man who saves another life instead of his own?

And yet haven't you known young men and women whose fathers and mothers have made them stand on their shoulders and get their feet into the niches in the cliffs so that they might climb to success, haven't you known some of these young people, after they had reached the top, to actually look down upon and be ashamed of the men and women at the bottom who chose to make their children's lives instead of their own?

And can you think of any more hateful sin I can't?

I shall never forget the case of one girl who graduated from college the year before I did. She came from a distant city, and all through her college course none of her people had ever come to visit her.

She was a girl who always had nice clothes and had reached the top, to actually look down upon and be ashamed of the men and women at the bottom who chose to make their children's lives instead of their own?

And such a pathetic, shabby little mother I don't believe ever trod the campus before or since. A home-tinted straw bonnet with velvet strings from which the nap had long since worn off; probably when they were attached to their second or third bonnet; a silk dress, shabby with the dreary shabbiness of worn out cheapness, white silk gloves that I'm sure were a remnant of her wedding outfit, and shoes that no polishing, however painstaking, had been able to make half way decent.

Every pathetic detail of her costume stood, I suppose, for some luxury that Alice had enjoyed.

I should have thought the girl would have been ashamed with shame and remorse for the story that pathetic little woman's appearance told.

I should have thought that her every energy would have been put into the attempt to make those few days the proudest and happiest of her mother's life.

Instead the only shame she seemed to feel was that her girl friends should see her mother's poverty.

Instead her every energy went into the effort to keep her mother as much out of sight as possible.

She was looking down with scorn on the shoulders that had been willingly given as her stepping stone to education and happiness, and in the giving had been stepping into ugliness.

Do you ever do things like that?

You are indignant at the very thought.

Well, of course, I don't mean anything quite so abundant, I know you couldn't.

But don't you ever for a moment maybe feel a passing impulse of shame or impatience when the father or mother does a passing odd-fashions thing?

If you do, suppose the next time you are inclined that way, you think of that girl and I'm sure the shame for them will turn into a far deeper shame for yourself.

EX-PRESIDENT'S SON TO MARRY NEW YORK SOCIETY GIRL

New York, N. Y.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Alexander to Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was made last week by Mrs. Henry Addison Alexander. Her daughter, Miss Eleanor, is one of the most charming young women of New York society, petite, pretty and gracious. She is a talented musician and is one of the violinists of the Symphony Club of New York. She made her debut last winter at a dance given by her mother at the Colony club. Miss Eleanor is the daughter of the late George Crocker, of California.

She has been a great chum of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the great chum of Mrs. Henry M. Alexander, of No. 10 West Fifty-fourth street, and great granddaughter of the late Theron R. Butler. She is a niece of Charles B. Alexander, who married the sister of the late George Crocker, of California.

Though neither would tell a thing about their courtship, it is known that Mr. Roosevelt has been making frequent trips to this city from Hartford, and has met Miss Alexander at many dances and other social affairs.

Mr. Alexander, the father of the bride-to-be, now lives in Paris.

INSPIRING THOUGHTS.

By MARY RUSSELL.

The rescue of a drowning fellow being by the formation of a human chain is an old story. The eager human chain reaches out into the water or over the lee, and grasps the drowning person and, with a united effort, brings him safe to shore. Each member of the chain is a link. Should one give way the whole chain would go to pieces, and the loss of life be greater than had no rescue been attempted, but there is no record of such a chain giving way. The urgent need of the drowning man out there in the dark water is so great that even army link would hold fast. The man who drops the pier is just as important and just as much a part of the rescue as the one that reaches out a warm hand and draws the victim to safety.

On the shore, safe and secure, are the busy throng all eager to give advice and directions as to how the desired result may be accomplished. Is it not like life? We are all either links in the chain, victims of misplaced confidence or onlookers full of advice.
It is only by uniting that great deeds are done. We must pull all together for the right if we would succeed.
The wise advice of the one who stays outside of the game is sometimes irritating, but perhaps he can see where we do not. If the advice is good do not be afraid to take it. The drowning man does not care how he is rescued, just so he gets to shore before it is too late.
The man who has given the last direction before the rescue arrogates to himself all the credit of the achievement, and that is sometimes annoying, but after all it is the thrill of doing that was worth while. The man that held on to his neighbor for the sake of the struggling one out there alone, that is the man whose heart beats high with hope and elation. It's worth while to do things just for the sake of doing, but how much more worth while is it to do for the sake of some one who needs it!

The brotherhood of man is the chain which holds us together for the good of all the world. There are some who scoff, and some whom we must rescue in spite of themselves, and some who would be lost did not we hold fast, but the bond which holds us is the biggest and finest bond the world has ever known.

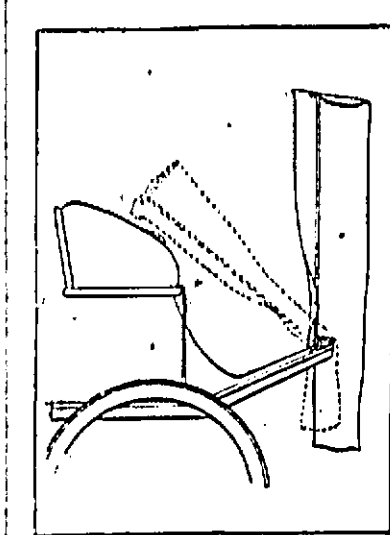

The man of wealth is working to help the world onward towards that great day when there is no more suffering among the poor, because there are no more very poor. The dream of riches which haunts the average American is fading to give place to the dream of a big, broad nation with education of the better sort for all, and the chance to make an honest living the inalienable right.

LAP-ROBE HOLDER

Frame Fastened to Dashboard and Movable Up and Down.

Lap robes have a disagreeable habit of slipping off to the ground and in cases where the occupant of the carriage or which has occasion to leave the vehicle frequently the time required to arrange this robe is considerable. A Minneapolis man has gotten out a holder for lap robes that seems to provide against these emergencies. It consists of a frame of rods that is hinged to the bottom of the dashboard and movable up and down. The robe is spread over this frame and when not in use the frame can be pushed up out of the way. On returning to the carriage the owner has but to seat himself, draw down the frame with one movement and the lap robe is draped comfortably over him. The robe may be tucked in or out, as the weather demands. To prevent the robe from slipping from the frame it can be fastened to the top, and the whole drape thereby made entirely secure.

MONODIET PLAN FOR INVALIDS.

The monodiet is the plan of eating but one article of food at a time, saving the waste of energy required of the system to adapt itself to the complex process of digesting several different kinds of food at once. Certain combinations (as meat and milk, fruit and coarse vegetables) are particularly inharmonious, others (as cereals and nuts, milk and rice) only slightly so, but perfect harmony exists only in the elements of a single food, many of which, as milk and wheat, contain every element the body needs. But the benefits of the monodiet can be had by eating, for instance, uncooked cabbage or lettuce or apples or prunes for breakfast, whole cereal bread for dinner and rice for supper, the next day toast for breakfast, beans for dinner, figs for supper. The invalid should have the benefit of the monodiet always.

"Certainly. You may ask anything you please, but it will do you no good. It's an old rule of the game never to divulge a client's secret. Gov. Osborne has his own reasons for absconding himself from his office. However, he was at home tonight."

"I rather guess not, as I had all the trains watched. You'll have to do a lot better than that, Mr. Griewald."

"He has issued a statement to the public since you lied to the intelligence reporter about him today. I suppose it's part of your official duty to misrepresent the head of the state administration in the press, but the governor is in the saddle and I advise you to be good."

"The attorney-general felt that he was not making headway. His disavowal of the governor's own hands. The governor of South Carolina is now, so to speak, in camera."

"The governor is hiding. He's afraid to come to Columbia, and the whole state knows it."

"The papers, my friend; and I will satisfy you that the governor of South Carolina is under this roof and transacting business."

"Here in the statehouse," demanded Griewald, and he blanched and twisted the buttons of his coat nervously.

"The governor of South Carolina, the supreme power of the state, charged with full responsibility, enjoying all the immunities, rights and privileges unto him belonging."

It was clear that Griewald took no stock whatever in Griewald's story, but Griewald's pretended employment by the governor and his apparent knowledge of the governor's affairs, piqued his curiosity. He stepped to an inner office, came back with a packet of papers and thrust a revolver into his pocket with so vain a show of it that Griewald laughed aloud.

"What! Do you still back your arguments with firearms down here? It's a method that has gone out of fashion in Virginia!"

"If there's a trick in this it will be the worse for you," sneered Griewald.

"And pray, remember on your side, that you are to give these documents into the hands of the governor. Come along."

"They met the watchman in the corridor and he saluted them and passed on. Griewald strode eagerly forward in his anxiety to prick the bubble of Griewald's pretensions."

Griewald threw open the door of the governor's reception-room, and they blinked in the stronger light that poured in from the private office. There, in the governor's chair by the broad official desk, sat Barbara Osborne reading a newspaper.

It Was Opened Guardedly.

"Your excellency," said Griewald, bowing gravely and advancing; "I beg to present the attorney-general."

"Barbara!"

The papers fell from the attorney-general's hands. He stood staring until astonishment began to yield to rage as he realized that a trap had been sprung upon him. The girl had risen instantly and a smile played about her lips for a moment. She had vaguely surmised that Griewald would charge Griewald with the loss of the papers, but her associate in the conspiracy had now given a turn to the matter that amused her.

"Barbara!" blurted the attorney-general, "what game is this—what contemptible trick is this stranger playing on you? Don't you understand that your father's absence is a most serious matter and that in the present condition of this Applegate affair it is likely to involve him and the state in scandal?"

Barbara regarded him steadily for a moment with a negative sort of gaze. She took a step forward before she spoke and then she asked quickly and sharply:

"What have you done, Mr. Griewald, to avert these calamities, and what was in your mind when you pried open the drawer and took out those papers?"

"It was going to use the requisition."

"How?"

"Why, I expected—"

"Mr. Griewald expected to effect a coup for his own glory during the governor's absence," suggested Griewald.

"How?" and Barbara's voice rang imperiously and her eyes flashed.

"Send this unknown person, this impostor and waddler, away and I will talk to you as old friends may talk together," and he glared fiercely at Griewald, who stood fanning himself with his hat.

"I asked you how you intended to serve my father, Mr. Griewald, because you sent me this afternoon a letter in which you threatened me with your father's ruin if I did not marry you. You would take advantage of my trouble and anxiety to force that question on me when I had answered it once and for all long ago. Before this stranger I want to tell you that you are a despicable coward and that if you think you can humiliate me or my father or the state by such practices as you have resorted to you're very greatly mistaken. And further, Mr. Griewald, if I find you interfering again in this matter I shall print that letter you wrote me today in every paper in the state! Now, that is all I have to say to you, and I hope never to see you again."

"Before you go, Mr. Griewald," said Griewald, "I wish to say that Miss Osborne has spoken of your conduct with altogether too much restraint. I shall add, on my own account, that if I find you meddling again in this Applegate case, I shall first procure your removal from office and after that I shall take the greatest pleasure in flogging you within an inch of your life. Now go!"

TO RECOGNIZE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

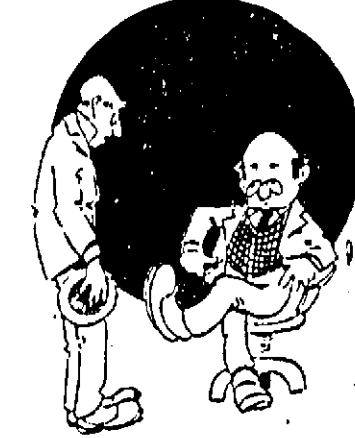

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury C. D. Norton.

Washington, D. C.—If the wishes of the new assistant secretary of the treasury C. D. Norton are carried out, it is claimed that a saving of $1,000,000 a year in the administration of the treasury department affairs can be made. Last week Mr. Norton presented before the house appropriations committee and asked them to appropriate $100,000 instead of the $500 which is allotted the treasury department at the present time for purposes of expert advice. It is his plan to secure the best accountants in the United States and by means of new systems and new methods to eliminate all useless work in the department and thus save approximately $1,000,000 a year in operating expense.

The treasury department transacts a business the expense of which are $25,000,000 a year.

While the appropriation committee has not yet decided definitely it is generally believed that the appropriation will be given.

A BICYCLE SLED

New Style of Coaster That Any

Bright, Handy Boy Can Make.

A novel kind of sled that can be made by any boy with some skill in the use of tools is shown here. It is nothing less than a coaster built on the bicycle principle, and should be constructed of good quality pine. The "V" in the body of the sled is made of single pieces, about 1 by 1 1/2 inches. The two horizontal pieces of the body are in duplicate, one on each side, and should be 2 by 1 1/2 inches. The front fork is also made of a heavy single piece and hinged to the frame with four short eyebolts.

SWIFT AND STEADY FAMILY.

The runners, which are made of the same kind of wood as the fork, are shod with iron and pivoted to the wheels; double plates being secured to the uprights to make a fork. A seat is fastened on the top of the frame by a block which drops between the two top plates, and is secured by a pin, and a crosspiece resting in front of the frame on the two lower plates answers for a foot rest. Hand-ropes enable the rider to steer with ease and economy, and because of the lesser resistance his runner is able to move, this bicycle sled will run away from the old kind.

ACTRESS AND MILLIONAIRE DAN

Miss Eleanor Robson, whose engagement to August Belmont has been announced.

New York—Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Robson to August Belmont has just been made to a wide circle of intimate friends.

Mr. Belmont's attentions to Miss Robson for more than two years and the efforts of mutual friends to bring them together on every favorable opportunity, resulted last spring in reports of an engagement, which were denied. But despite of the denials, the engagement has been expected for a long time, and the announcement created no particular surprise.

Miss Robson was born in England in 1880, but was brought to America when a child by her parents and has made New York her home ever since. At the age of 7 she was placed in a convent school on Staten Island, where she remained until 18. Her early desire was to be a painter, but an accident turned her to the stage for a career. Her mother, Mrs. Mudge Carr Cook, had already achieved conspicuous success in that profession, and more notably recently as Mrs. Wiggs in "The Cabbage Patch."

Miss Robson's first appearance was in 1897, when, with her mother, at the California theater, San Francisco.

a member of the company having taken ill suddenly and no underwriter being available she volunteered to play the role. She went on without previous experience and only a few hours' study of the part. Her success was so marked that she abandoned art for the stage, and during the succeeding five years she played a number of roles, classical and comedy.

Miss Robson became a star five years ago, as "Merely Mary Ann" at the Garden theater, New York. The play ran for a year in this city, and then scored a great success in London. Others of her noted characters were of John J. Lusk, late of the City of New York, and of the City of New York.

Salome June, from Bret Hart's story, and Glad, with which she closed her career tonight.

Aside from the stage, Miss Robson has deep interest in literature and enjoys a distinctive place in the literary and artistic circles of both New York and London, counting among her friends Bernard Shaw, Israel Zangwill, Pinero Lewis Parker and James M. Barrie. She possesses a wonderful charm of manner and her face illumines with a beauty of expression that is fascinating. Her favorite recreations are riding, sailing and golf.

Mr. Belmont is one of the noted bankers of the country, the builder and financial promoter of the New York subway system. He is a widow.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. At the time Kling left the Chicago team he announced that he would never play ball again. He said he wanted more time to care for his private business. Kling for many months has been a puzzle to the baseball enthusiasts throughout the country. Many interviews have been given out in which it was declared that he wanted to go back into baseball and then a few days later it would be reported that he would never again play ball. It is probable that the national commission will now readmit him on condition that he pay a fine.
